People

Dear Readers,

Andrew Carnegie said this: "Take away my people, but leave my factories, and soon grass will grow on the factory floors. Take away my factories, but leave my people, and soon we will have a new and better factory."

Isn't he saying that it is all about people? And furthermore, isn't he saying that it really isn't about stuff? Consider that. What are your greatest resources? Consider how none of them are physical stuff but are all living beings. God is not a thing, but a living being who has meant us for relationship. Consider your resources...

Blessings,
