Where is all this going?

Dear Readers,

Where is all this going? I do think that is a question we all ask. I think it is the question of each and every life, and it is especially on our minds now. We live in a fast moving society where everything changes so quickly. Where is this all going?

I do not know where it all goes, but I believe it comes back to the garden. It brings us back to the garden where the tomb of Jesus was. There in that garden is a place where we see that suffering, toil, and death are answered by God with life, love, and hope. So where is all this going? It is all headed toward the life, love, and hope which is God. In the end, and even now, that is what is raised up among us.

Blessings,
