Balcony Jesus

Dear Readers,

Ron Heifetz in his book "Leadership Without Easy Answers" talks about the necessity of getting up in the balcony in order to see what patterns of existence and behavior we are living under.

Jesus is that balcony. He provides us with that perspective and view we need in order to see our lives as it really is and as it should be. He shows us what is primary and what really matters. When questioned by those who understood the Law of God the response Jesus gives is that what really matters is loving God and loving each other. These are the most important priorities. Get in the balcony. Take a look. What do you see? Are your priorities God's priorities for you?

Blessings,
